

The old lens is out, the VHB tape is down in the frame (red backing), and the green masking tape is one the frame.

The new lens is in place and the first pass of Dowsil 795 is in the groove.

Close-up of the first bead of sealant before running my finger around the joint to smooth it.

The finished hatch.